Note 6: Taxes

Pruco Life is taxed as a "life insurance company" as defined by the Internal Revenue Code. The results of operations of the Real Property Account form a part of Prudential's consolidated federal tax return. Under current federal law, no federal income taxes are payable by the Real Property Account. As such, no provision for the tax liability has been recorded in these financial statements.